Hands-Free Door Opener

Alpine Industries manufactures top quality products and this stainless steel hands free door opener is no exception. Made with premium quality steel its resistant to impact and will last long term even after years of continuous use. This contactless door opener is the perfect addition to any area keeping people safe and secure against germs and bacteria. Cross contamination can easily occur when touching different surfaces but this hands free door opener will give you easy access to opening doors. Keep germs and bacteria at bay and protect yourselves. This touchless door opener is great for high traffic areas like schools, offices, restaurants, stores, hospitals and more! After you wash your hands and clean off the dirt and bacteria, when you grab the door handle you again get bacteria and germs transferred to your hands, especially if you do not completely dry your hands. This hands free door opener is the perfect addition to all doors to ensure safety and protection by maintaining proper hygiene.
